

Open Access Policy: Journal of AI Production and Consumption (jAIpc)

1. Philosophy and Commitment

The Journal of AI Production and Consumption (jAIpc) is dedicated to the principle that knowledge derived from public research should be a public good. We are a Diamond/Platinum Open Access journal, which means that all peer-reviewed research content is immediately and permanently free for everyone to read, download, copy, distribute, and reuse, without financial, legal, or technical barriers.

We believe this model is essential for:

Accelerating Scientific Progress: Removing paywalls ensures the rapid dissemination and exchange of ideas.

Ensuring Equity: Researchers and practitioners anywhere in the world, regardless of their institution's wealth, have equal access to the latest findings.

Maximizing Societal Impact: Policymakers, educators, industry professionals, and the public can directly apply this knowledge to tackle real-world challenges.

2. Licensing and Copyright

To guarantee these freedoms, all articles published in jAIpc are distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License (CC BY).

This license allows anyone to:

Share — copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format.

Adapt — remix, transform, and build upon the material for any purpose, including commercially.

The sole requirement is that users give appropriate credit to the original author(s), provide a link to the license, and indicate if any changes were made.

Author Copyright: Under this license, authors retain full copyright of their work.

Journal License: Authors grant jAIpc a non-exclusive license to publish the article as the definitive Version of Record.

3. Author Fees (Article Processing Charges)

The Journal of AI Production and Consumption (jAIpc) employs a two-tier fee structure to balance sustainability with our commitment to global equity.

Tier A (Supported Rate): A fee of 800 Ghana Cedis (GHS) is available to all authors based in low- and middle-income countries* as well as to any author without dedicated research funding.

Tier B (Standard Token Rate): A fee of 120 USD is requested from authors who are based in high-income countries and who have sufficient grant or institutional funding to cover publication costs.

Our primary goal is the dissemination of knowledge, not financial gain. Fee waivers are granted upon request to any author who genuinely indicate the fee as a barrier to publication. jAIpc retains the right to accept or reject waivers.

4. Author Rights and Permitted Sharing

Authors are warmly encouraged to share and promote their work widely. You have the right to:

Immediately deposit the published PDF (Version of Record) in any institutional or subject repository (e.g., arXiv, SSRN, your university's repository).

Post the final published version on your personal or laboratory website.

Use the article in your teaching activities and conference presentations.

Include it in any future monograph or other publication, with full citation.

No embargo period applies. You may share your work immediately upon publication.

5. Reader Rights and Reuse

Any user may freely:

Read, download, and print the full text of all articles.

Text- and data-mine the published content.

Translate articles for local use.

Use figures and tables in new works, as long as the original publication is cited.

6. Archiving and Preservation

To ensure the permanent availability of the scholarly record, jAlpc partners with long-term digital preservation archives such as CLOCKSS and Portico. This ensures that all published content remains safe and accessible for future generations, even in the event of the journal ceasing publication.

7. Transparency Statement

jAlpc is a non-profit, academic-led publication. Our mission is scholarly communication, not financial gain. Our editorial processes and funding model are transparent and detailed on our website.

8. Compliance with Funder Mandates

The jAlpc open access policy and CC BY license ensure full compliance with the public access mandates of major research funders worldwide, including:

The National Institutes of Health (NIH)

Wellcome Trust

Horizon Europe

The National Science Foundation (NSF)

And many others.
